F A Q's

Why should I join SNAME?

SNAME is the newest group at the apprentice school, only been around for a year or two. I chose to join SNAME instead of another group b/c SNAME is like a fraternity within the a-school and I can be a part of it from the ground floor. We are part of a larger SNAME group- the Hampton Roads chapter of SNAME. The Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers is an internationally recognized nonprofit, technical, professional society of individual members serving the maritime and offshore industries and their suppliers. SNAME is dedicated to advance the art, science and practice of naval architecture, and marine engineering. SNAME also encourages the exchange of information, sponsoring applied research, offering career guidance and supporting education, while enhancing the professional status and integrity of its membership. SNAME will get your name out to the people who lead the Shipbuilding industry Danny Brookman, Dr. Hughes, Dr. Leber, multiple Dept heads, and some VP's are SNAME members. The other groups will look good on a resume, but SNAME will look better. SNAME is the career boosting network you want to be a part of. So come join us!

What is the cost to join?

The standard student fee is $35.00, that fee is paid for you by the company upon receipt of your application.

Who should I return my application form to?

A copy of the application can be downloaded from this website or you can contact Adam Knowlton for an application. The application can be sent by yard mail to Adam Knowlton, Chair of the membership committee. You can find his information in the Committee section of this website.
